What does an ambassador do?

As a QA Apprenticeship Ambassador, you'll collaborate with fellow team members to share your QA apprenticeship experience.

Your role involves representing QA and engaging with potential candidates, teachers and career advisors.

Whether at careers events, school assemblies, or through social media videos, you'll use your own journey to motivate others to start their careers with an apprenticeship.

You'll also have opportunities to interact with the press, media, and public decision-makers, promoting awareness about the value of apprenticeships. Working closely with the marketing team, you'll create inspiring case studies and positive stories for social media, showcasing the benefits of QA apprenticeships.

By volunteering as a QA Apprenticeship Ambassador, you'll make a significant impact on the aspirations of individuals' career pathways.

Being a QA Apprenticeship Ambassador offers a chance for personal growth. You'll develop essential skills in leadership, presentation and public speaking, all of which will enhance your own career prospects.

You'll also have exclusive access to our ambassador hub where you can access rewards, training and events.
